

Protecting yourself from scams

Supporting people with intellectual disability to feel safe and confident online

Digital
Champions

Date: Thursday, 18 June 2026

Time: 7.00 pm - 8.00 pm (AEST)

Where: Online

What is the webinar about?

Scams are getting harder to spot. This is especially true for romance scams, which trick people by using their feelings.

Join us for an engaging and practical webinar with Down Syndrome Australia's Digital Champions who will share their experience of building digital skills and confidence and explain why being safe online matters. Through real-life examples, they will explain how scams work, how to spot them and what to do if something doesn't feel right.

You'll learn about:

- ✓ What a scam is and where scams happen
- ✓ How to spot a romance scam
- ✓ Common warning signs to look out for
- ✓ What to do if you think something is a scam
- ✓ Simple ways to stay safe online

Presenters

This session is part of the Digital Champions program, delivered by Good Things Australia in partnership with Down Syndrome Australia. The program supports people with intellectual disability to build digital skills and share their knowledge with others.

Who is this event for?

This webinar is designed specifically for people with intellectual disability. It's also a fantastic resource for families, support workers, and anyone dedicated to online safety. Whether you're looking to protect others or simply want to boost your own digital confidence, there's something here for you.

To get the most out of this session it is recommended that people with intellectual disability attend with a supporter.
